A MESSAGE FROM PASTOR HARKNESS

A PRAYER OF PRAISE

*O give thanks to the LORD, call on his name, make known his deeds among the peoples.
Sing to him, sing praises to him;
tell of all his wonderful works.*

1 Chronicles 16:8-9

It seemed good to me and the Holy Spirit to begin the New Year with a Prayer of Praise. In this new year I'd like us to focus our attention on the positive things we encounter in our lives, on our faith journeys, and with our church. Not only is our country entering its 250th anniversary, but we at Trinity are also entering our 275th anniversary as a congregation.

The tendency is for us to want to look backwards and lament what we once were. I encourage us to do the opposite; to look forward into our future and rejoice on what we can become. Let us focus on how Trinity can become an integral force of love and care for our community. I believe we have already begun that task. Let's keep the momentum going!

Let us pray:

Gracious Father, we rejoice in the rich heritage we have shared over the last 275 years. You are certainly worthy of our attention, praise, and love. You have done amazing things in bringing us through difficult times and supporting us through the good times. We are confident you will continue to do so. Ignite a flame in us that we may illuminate the darkness and bring light and life to our world, our community, and our congregation. Keep us from tearing each other down and help us to look for and uplift the gifts that each of us share. Give us the courage to make your goodness known and to never be ashamed of our faith in you.

We ask that you bring peace to our friends, health and comfort to those who are suffering from chronic illnesses, and fortitude and positivity to those who look forward to our future. Thank you for all the wonderful works and all that you have done for us over the year and all you will do through us in the future.

In Jesus' name, amen.

The Wonder of Crossing One's Self

I am particularly interested in your questions about why we do what we do in worship. Please send me a note on what you would like to know. You may send me a text, put a note in my mailbox in the office, or send me an email at pastor@trinitypv.org.

This month the topic is: The Sign of the Cross. When I was first called to my former congregation, I'd have people ask me why I crossed myself? They'd say, "That's so Catholic. Why do you do it?" Having graduated from seminary, it seemed like a normal thing to do. But I could understand where they were coming from because before going to seminary, I never would have thought about doing it. I might have thought the same thing, but actually it is ecumenical. It is used by the Orthodox and Roman Catholics, Lutherans, Episcopalians, and is slowly increasing in use among mainline Protestants.

So What Is It? The sign of the cross, whether traced over the body or on the forehead, is a sign and remembrance of one's Baptism. The Use of the Means of Grace (The ELCA's set of instructions for the practices of word and sacrament) says of this gesture, "These interpretive signs proclaim the gifts that are given in the promise of God in Baptism itself. Some keys to their interpretation are given in the Holy Scriptures. The laying on of both hands with the prayer for the gifts of the Holy Spirit is a sign of the pouring out of the Spirit of God to empower the people of God for mission. The sign of the cross marks the Christian as united with the Crucified."

The Wonder of Crossing One's Self

The sign of the cross is also a remembrance of the death and resurrection of our Lord: the center of our faith. It is a treasured part of our heritage as Lutherans, because the practice was encouraged and used by Martin Luther himself. Luther made provisions for using the sign of the cross on at least three occasions.

How Is It Done? Lutherans trace the sign of the cross over their bodies from forehead to lower chest, then from shoulder to shoulder and back to the heart; and others trace a small cross on their foreheads.

When Is it Done? “In the name of the Father, and of the + Son, and of the Holy Spirit” or “Blessed be the Holy Trinity, + one God, who forgives all our sin, whose mercy endures forever.” These words begin the orders for Confession and Forgiveness. The rubrics (directions in red italics) that accompanies these words say: “The assembly stands. All may make the sign of the cross, the sign marked at baptism, as the presiding minister begins.” It is used during various parts of worship such as: invocation, absolution, blessing, or when receiving communion. It means that we belong to Christ. It also reminds us of God’s grace and presence. This practice is a visible sign of faith, rooted in Lutheran tradition. It is meant to comfort, bless, and remind worshipers of God’s love and promise.

- At Ordination. In his order for the Ordination of Ministers of the Word, Luther says of the benediction: “The ordinator blesses them with the sign of the cross.”

- In Daily Prayer. Luther instructed his followers to make the sign of the cross at both the beginning and the end of the day as a beginning to daily prayers. In The Small Catechism, in the section on morning and evening prayers Luther says: “When you get out of bed, bless yourself with the holy cross and say ‘In the name of God, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. Amen.’” This same instruction is given for bedtime.

I hope this has answered your questions about why we make the sign of the cross.

LIVING NATIVITY RECAP

Our Living Nativity on December 6 was a wonderful success! With participants from several PALM churches, the performances at 3:00 and 5:00 p.m. welcomed about 70 attendees across both showings. We were grateful for the positive feedback—especially appreciation for offering an earlier performance time. Thank you to everyone who participated, attended, and helped make this meaningful event possible.
